Project Title: Stray Kids Website

I plan to have a multi-page site design, where the landing page is an overview and the other pages (with more detailed info and history) are accessible through some type of nav bar either at the top or on the side.

- Main Page/Introduction — The home page will introduce the band and likely talk a little bit about their most recent album.
- History/Timeline
- Members
- Discography — I also want this page to include listening options, so viewers can listen to the music while they read.

- Awards and nominations

- Sources — I think I want to try putting the sources in the footer of each page, but if that doesn't work, this is an alternative option where I would have them all on their own page. This would include the Wikipedia pages and various image sources.
